The dark days are approaching

We unfortunately have to face it, but summer is really over. This means that the days are getting shorter again and it gets dark earlier. This can be very cozy and pleasant, but we also want to ask you to be extra careful. We want the best for our tenants and everyone who is a guest, so we want everyone to come home safely. We encourage everyone to be extra careful outside. Especially with the road work going on down the street.

Fixed parking spaces in the street

As most residents know, there is a fairly long queue for a parking spot in the parking garage at the Woldring Location. As a result, cars that don't have a spot are now parked unsecured in the front. Did you know that we also have extra parking spaces further down the street? Not only is your car safer, but you are always assured of your own spot. Moreover, these spots are also cheaper than the parking spots at the Woldring Location. We think this could be a good solution for some of our tenants. Are you interested in a parking spot? Please contact us at verhuur@woldringverhuur.nl.

Introducing:

The North Sport Performance

From October it is possible to book a personal training at the Woldring Location. Fully provided by a fellow resident! The North Sport Performance will organize the lessons in the gym. The company has extensive experience in providing fitness and (top) sports training and physiotherapy. All residents of the Woldring Location get a nice discount on all classes. See www.tnsp.nl for the possibilities and prices.

Parking your bike

Recently we have been receiving more and more signals about confusion regarding the parking of bicycles. We have even received complaints from Dominos that they can no longer use their vehicles because someone places the scooter between theirs. Therefore, here is a short overview with agreements:

- The sidewalk in front of the Woldring Location is absolutely no place to park your bicycle or scooter. By doing so, you obstruct the path for pedestrians and you can damage the cars or other property of fellow residents.

- All residents of the Woldring Location have their own bicycle parking space in the bicycle shed. Bicycles will be placed in this spot at all times.

The friendly request to observe these agreements again. Thank you in advance.

Still stuff in the hallway

Honestly, we wonder where this keeps going wrong. By that we mean stuff that is left in the hallways of the complex. Whether it's stuff you use, it's trash you're going to throw away later in the day or stuff you offer for sale, it doesn't belong there. It causes a lot of irritation and disturbance to our staff and your fellow residents.

- Things you use belong in your own living space. Things that you want to throw away, you bring directly to the underground container.

- Things you sell should not be placed in the hallway, but left behind your own door until the buyer comes to pick it up.

- Are there things that you don't necessarily sell, but leave for someone to take away for free? Of course they don't belong in the hallway either. In that case we do have an extra tip. Mamamini is a thrift store in Groningen that is committed to charity. As an extra service, they offer to pick up items that are still sellable.
